Welcome From The Commodore Bill Gibbs

Allow me to welcome you to the 2021 73rd Newport to Ensenada International Yacht Race. Thank you for participating. It is wonderful to have a good turnout in these times.

As I'm sure you are aware, there is a pandemic going on. All aspects of our event have to comply with the appropriate guidelines. You can expect mask and social distancing requirements in all the finish locations. Ensenada will take your temperature on arriving and ask for individual Covid questionnaires to be filled out. No spring-break like wild crowded parties. On the good news side, we are having the race! I am so ready to get out on the water in my boat, with tacos and beer waiting in Ensenada. Newport Beach is at condition Orange, allowing 50% occupancy indoor dining. Things are looking up. While our activities are somewhat constrained, there is a lot of fun to be had.

Thursday night, Bahia Corinthian Yacht Club invites racers to a pre-race N2E Racers Dinner. Table reservations are required. A skipper can reserve a 4, 6, or 8 seat table for the evening.

Saturday the Hotel Coral is offering a special Fiesta Grill dinner for racers, with tables for crews. Taco stands and beverage stands will be around. Free shuttle services into town.

SGYC is opening their dining services to N2SD racers.

Sunday is the N2E awards ceremony (s). We are planning to have multiple awards ceremonies, breaking the entire fleet into smaller groups, sized to the occupancy restrictions in place at the time.

Cancelling the 2020 N2E was not a lot of fun. I have every hope that this year's race will more than make up for that. Have a great race, and may you get the wind you want.

Best regards
Bill Gibbs
NOSA Commodore

GET A RATING

To get a rating for your boat, you need to be a member of the Performance Handicap Racing Fleet (PHRF), or the Ocean Catamaran Racing Association (ORCA). This applies to all racers, (except for One-Design and Unlimited classes). PHRF issues the Rating for all of the PHRF boats that participate in the Race. ORCA provides NOSA with an Official Ratings List for ORCA multihulls.

MEXICO CUSTOMS

- Certificate of Documentation or current vessel registration
- Current vessel insurance
- Current passports for owner and crew
- Current vessel Temporary Import

Current Tourist Card

COVID Health Inspection

TIP Application

A boat entering Mexico for the first time goes thru the official check-in process with both Mexican Customs and Immigration. By participating in the N2E race, these are expedited for you and handled at Race Headquarters at the Hotel Coral or possibly at the marina you are staying. Similarly, the boat exiting Mexico check-out procedure is handled by N2E Race management for you. You will not need to do the typical visiting of multiple downtown Ensenada offices when arriving and departing. One of the fees involved in sailing into Ensenada is a per boat fee to the Harbor Master. This is included in your entry fee and handled by N2E Race Management for you.

Tourist card fee (Forma Migratoria Múltiple (FMM)) for each person going ashore. This tourist card fee can be prepaid on the internet, or paid in Ensenada when checking in at Hotel Coral. The current amount is about $31 USD per person (it varies with exchange rate). The local officials strongly suggest bringing cash and handling this in Ensenada. If you prefer the on-line prepaying, be aware it is one application and one receipt per person. Mexican law also requires all passengers on a boat with fishing gear to have a Mexican fishing license.

COVID Health Inspection

Skippers and crew to remain aboard their boat until a Health Official arrives to take temperatures and ask each person questions regarding their health. The skipper will complete a short questionnaire and deliver it to the Health Official. The Health Official will provide an International Health Inspection Report to the skipper.

N2SD COURSE

US Customs does not require a visit after rounding the Coronado Islands, as no landfall has been made and the last port is Newport Beach in the US.

Regarding sailing thru Mexican waters: The UN Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS), Section 3 addresses "innocent passage". Innocent passage is essentially a vessel's right to continuous and expeditious transit through a coastal state's territorial sea for the purpose of traversing the seas (without entering a state's internal waters, such as a port) (UNCLOS - Art. 18). Passage is considered innocent so long as it is not prejudicial to the peace, good order or security of the coastal nation (UNCLOS Article 19). A coastal state is not permitted to require prior notification nor authorization in order for a vessel to exercise innocent passage. (Operational Law Handbook - US Army JAG School)

There are 12 activities that are deemed not to be innocent. Relevant here would be pollution, fishing, research or survey activities, or any other activity not having a direct bearing on passage. Do not pollute, no disorder, and no fishing!

Ensenada, Mexico
50NM from San Diego

Dear sailors and friends of NOSA.

On behalf of Admiral José Rafael Ojeda Durán, Secretary of the Navy and High Command of the Mexican Navy and of all of us who make up the Second Naval Region in Ensenada, Baja California, it is a great honor for me to address the organizers and participants in this 73rd edition of the Annual International Regatta from Newport to Ensenada, which will begin this April 23 to 25, 2020.

This regatta highlights the friendship that exists between the nautical community of Newport and Ensenada Baja California, which over 73 years has reinforced the maritime spirit of men and women who have participated in previous editions.

I am proud to know that the 73rd edition of this regatta coincides with a memorable year for the sailors of the Mexican Navy in this year 2021, which is the year of the Commemoration of the Bicentennial of the Mexican Navy

Feel safe to leave the moorings and hoist the sails and sail through our Mexican waters to reach the goal and the desired dream since, by the members of the Mexican Navy, they will receive the greater attention of assistance and security than an event of this magnitude deserves.

Finally, I want to thank Staff Commodore Tom Kennedy for his presence and willingness to work together, with the aim of enhancing the festivities of the Bicentennial of the Mexican Navy together with this new edition.

-HONOR, DUTY, LOYALTY, PATRIOTISM--

The history of wine making in Baja California, was born in our valley and within the walls of our winery. We are proud of what in this land is harvested and then transformed, it is here that mexican wine originated and has transcended space, time and generations. We bring that feeling to each label to celebrate the land we love.

Year Of The Bicentennial of the Creation of the Mexican Navy

Mexico City. - The beginning of an independent nation in 1821, brought as a consequence the need of having a Navy that had the mission of safeguarding the national sovereignty; due to this, on October 4, 1821, the Mexican Navy was born, an institution named by the regency integrated by Agustín de Iturbide, Juan O'Donojú, Manuel de la Bárcena, José Isidro Yáñez and Manuel Velázquez León, who appointed Lieutenant Antonio de Medina Miranda, as Secretary of State responsible for the affairs of War with charge of the Navy, according to what was established in the Imperial Gazette of October 5, 1821.

Thus, the origins of a National Navy are glimpsed, a Navy which in its beginnings had to face the invaders that occupied the fortress of San Juan de Ulua in Veracruz, an event that motivated the Mexican government to acquire the first naval squadron in order to impose the naval blockade to the fortress and defeat the last remaining Spanish redoubt in Mexico. The ships acquired were the schooners Iguala and Anáhuac; gunboats Campechana, Chapala, Orizaba, Texcoco, Tuxpan, Zumpango, Papaloapan, Tampico and Tlaxcalteca. Thereby, on April 17, 1822, with its first squadron, begins the formation of the Mexican Navy, with Schooner as its main flagship.

Derived from these actions, on October 8, 1823, the naval blockade of the fortress of San Juan de Ulua was decreed, due to a bombardment of the port of Veracruz, concluding the Mexican government that the dispute could only be solved at sea and therefore, that the Navy should be strengthened, that is how on November 13 of the same year, it was declared that only the Navy should consolidate the national Independence forever.

To fulfill this noble mission, in December 1824, the Libertad Frigate and the brigantines Bravo and Victoria were acquired from England and Sweden, which had greater capacities for their task. Finally, in 1825 the ship Asia was added, which was renamed "Congreso Mexicano" in Acapulco and was the most armed, with 74 cannons. With this ship, almost 200 cannons of different calibers were added to the national squadron.

Commander Pedro Sáinz de Baranda y Borreyro, who served as General Commander of the Department of the Navy in 1825, determined after an analysis, the need to incorporate support from abroad in maritime matters, receiving help mainly from England to complement the crews of the Mexican squadrons.

Derived from the above, on August 16, 1825, Commander Sáinz de Baranda received the command of the Department of the Navy of Veracruz, with the main objective of achieving the definitive capitulation of San Juan de Ulúa, where the last Spanish redoubt of the conquest was located.

That is why Spain decided to make a last attempt so that the Spaniards who were garrisoned in San Juan de Ulua, would continue fighting, arriving a naval convoy on October 5, 1825. Finally, barely 4 years after its creation, the Mexican Navy faced one of the most important battles in its history. The Mexican naval squadron, under the command of Commander Pedro Sáinz de Baranda, managed to effectively impose the blockade on the fortress, which led to its capitulation and eviction on November 23, 1825, when the Spaniards left for good and the Mexican forces raised the national flag on the fortress of San Juan de Ulúa. And Independence was consolidated at sea, thanks to our Navy!

199 years after its creation, the Mexican Navy has been consolidated as the operative component of the SEMAR, which employs the Naval Power of the Federation with its sea, air and land forces for the external defense and internal security of the country; to fulfill this task, it plays two fundamental roles:

- As a Navy, it focuses on the maritime defense of the territory, to guarantee the independence, sovereignty and integrity of the national territory.
- As Coast Guard, it focuses on maintaining the rule of law in Mexican marine zones and safeguarding human life at sea.
